Host a Collegiate Baseball Player this Summer

The Rockville Express baseball team is currently searching for host families for the 2016 summer season. This summertime wood bat league is a part of the Cal Ripken Collegiate League and attracts some of the most talented college baseball players from across the nation. These players have been recommended by their college coaches and recruited to play by the Express, with many having the potential to succeed as professional baseball players.

A vital part of a successful season is to have host families provide housing for the players, giving them support and a family atmosphere for the summer. When you host a player, you are not just taking on a guest for the summer. Your family will be embarking on an experience that will make you a part of an extended baseball family.

Host Family Responsibilities:

- ◆ Be available to host a player from approximately June 1st – July 31st
- ◆ Provide a clean, safe, and pleasant environment for the player to stay
- ◆ Provide a private room or private area for the player to sleep
- ◆ Provide access to food and/or meals for the player
- ◆ Provide access to laundry equipment (players do their own laundry)
- ◆ Players provide their own transportation

Host Family Benefits:

- ◆ Free admittance to all home games
- ◆ You will become more involved with the community
- ◆ The player will be a positive role model
- ◆ You have an opportunity to make a positive impact on a young man's future
- ◆ You might be getting to know a future Major League star!
